Introduction

Children are exposed to multiple vulnerabilities. The forms of violence against children such as child sexual abuse, child marriage, physical violence at home etc is on an increase. India is home to the largest number of sexually abused children in the world with a child sexually abused every 15 minutes (NCRB). Failure to protect children from issues such as violence in schools, child labour, harmful traditional practices, child marriage, child abuse, the absence of parental care and commercial sexual exploitation, amongst others, means failure in fulfilling both the Constitutional and International commitments towards children.

The main causes contributing to the violence against children are: weak system (institutional mechanism) with lack of implementation of the laws and policies, lack of skill and efficiency of the child protection workforce and ignorance of children, parents and care givers.

The objectives of this program are

To work with children in slums and schools :

- To understand Child Rights and Child Protection
- To understand safe and unsafe touch and how they can report it if they have experienced it
- themselves or a friend has experienced it
- To understand online safety for themselves and their parents
- To understand reporting mechanisms for online safety

To talk with adults of the community in 4 slums:

- To help parents understand the need for protection of their children, understand the signs of
- violence and sexual violence in a child.
- How and who to report cases of child sexual abuse of their own children or children in their community
- To understand online safety for themselves and for their children

To work in two wards

- To strengthen and build on ward level child protection committees, so that all children in
- their wards are safe from child labour, begging, child sexual abuse and physical abuse
- To understand their role in the protection mechanism for children under the VATSALYA
- program.

ACTIVITIES

1. Reaching Children in Schools

Government Primary School Bnjarawalla

Through the program we reached over 4949 children in 62 schools. Discussions were held on child rights through that each child's right to protection and safety.

Children were taught about online safety. It included raising awareness about phone addiction through two short cartoon movies and providing information on where to lodge complaints in case of fraud or online harassment. A pamphlet that discussed the importance of Connect – who we should connect with, Content – What content we should post, Conduct – what our conduct should be online and Commerce – How we can keep our selves safe from online fraud.

The younger children learnt about safe and unsafe touch with through a cartoon movie and helped the children understand who their "body guard" could be. The team also discussed emotions with the children and how the children must listen to their emotions in order to keep themselves safe because our body and our emotion always tell us when we are unsafe we just have to listen. They were taught about safe and unsafe touch via a poem that they memorized. They remember the safety numbers like 1098 and 1090

Details were shared about the Juvenile Justice Act as well as the POCSO Act

Since the children were mostly from government schools in Dehradun child labour was also discussed and that each child's right was to go to school and not work in any house or in any dhabba , restaurant or farm. The children were told to see around them at home if there was any child who was working, as they were granted protection under the prohibition of child labour and the services that the children could get under the act including sponsorship funds. The team promised to help any child who needed admission or wanted to stop working.

At the end of the sessions the children were reminded about their bodyguards and were taught to remembered the cyber complaint number 1930, and were reminded of safe-unsafe touch. They were informed about how to respond if someone touches then in an unsafe manner or makes them feel unsafe.

2. Bal Sangathans

Everest B.S. Shastrinagar, Drug Addiction Rally

Four Bal Sangathas or children's groups were made in 4 slums. TapriBasti, Gandhi Gram, Shastri Nagar and Macchi Talaab. These children are from a diverse back ground and typically come from east UP and Bihar and are migrant, they often leave of their home states for months at a time. Child marriage and child labour is prevalent in their home states and tends to find its way here as well. The community is basically daily wagers where the men often are labourers in construction and the women work in homes – washing, cleaning, sweeping etc.

To start with the team visited several slums to find four that they could work in effectively. They met with the adults and the children in the bastis. They asked the adults if they would be interested in sending their children to meetings at least once a month.

The team then visited each house and invited the children to come to a place where they would play some games. Once the children started enjoying the games they would come readily to the meetings. They were told about the formation of a bal sangathan (children’s groups) and what it meant. The children then helped decide the venue for the meetings.

Ekta B.S.Tapri Basti, Children’s Meeting

Bal sangathans or children groups were formed in 4 bastis. Saraswati Bal Sangathan, in Macchi Talab, Ekta Bal Sangathan, in Tapri Basti, Everest Bal sangathan, Shastrinagar and Basant Bal Sangthan in Gandhi Gram.

44 monthly meeting have been held with these children one a month after the sangathans were formed, 1777 children attend these meetings regularly and sometimes even more children come to these meetings. We have found that children are abused in bastis by people who they know well so it was imperative to tell them about safe and unsafe touch and how they should react. The topics they discussed in their balsangathans were are safe and unsafe touch, how much information they should share with strangers. Who their body guard or trust worthy person is, how to keep themselves safe online and offline. They also discussed child rights and child participation. The children also discussed issues of safety that they faced in their bastis.

Shastrinagar, Rally against Addiction

A small quiz¹ was played with the children to understand their knowledge of child rights, safety and phone numbers that they could call at the time of emergencies

Many children from Machhi Talab basti would change very few months as their parents would migrate to another part of the city or go to another city. In order to understand where these migrant labourers were coming from we created a tree where children wrote their native village was and a phone number that they could be reached at.

The Impact

In Tapri basti the older girls initially wouldn't attend the Bal sangathan meetings but slowly they realized that interesting issues were being discussed and started attend the meetings.

The Children from Basant Bal sangathan in Shastrinagar now clean the area before their meeting

Parents send their children to the Bal sangathan meetings and sometimes even stay and listen.

Children are able to use the safe and unsafe touch chart to explain to other children how to stay safe

5. Stories of Change

Success Stories

- During the Shastri Nagar community meeting, Lakshmi shared that she went to the government primary school in Shastri Nagar to enroll her daughter, Janvi, who is 6 years old, in class 1. However, the school principal said that the girl would first have to take a test. If her marks were low, she would not be admitted to class 1. Hearing about the test made her daughter anxious, resulting in her getting poor marks. Consequently, the school refused to admit her daughter. Following this, the MCF team informed the mother that the school could not deny admission to her daughter, as it was a violation of the Right to Education. If they continued to refuse, she could file a complaint. The team helped the mother call the 1098 Child Helpline, and a complaint was lodged regarding the school's refusal to admit her. The very next day, the teacher from the school called the girl's parents and said that their daughter would be admitted. Thus, the school admitted Laxmi into class 1.
- In the Machhi Talab community meeting, Mrs. Vinita, said that she went to the government primary school in Dhandar for her son Shiva's admission. However, the school authorities claimed that they could not admit him due to an excess of students. Following this, the MCF team visited the school and spoke with the principal about the admission. They requested the admission of the child under the Right to Education and informed them about the family's circumstances. After discussions, the principal agreed to admit the child and asked them to bring Shiva and his family to the school.

Subsequently, the Shiva's family went with him to the school and successfully enrolled him in class 1.

- During the Machhi Talab community meeting, Mrs. Kamini, shared that she also visited the government primary school in Dhandar for her son Sunny's admission. The school authorities similarly stated that they could not admit him due to a high number of students. The MCF team visited the school and discussed the issue with the principal. They again requested admission for the child under the Right to Education and explained the family's situation. The principal agreed to admit the Sunny after the discussion and said that they could bring the child and his family to the school. The child's family then went to the school and enrolled him in class 1.
- During a community visit to Machhi Talab, it was discovered that Shivani, aged 10, was not attending school as she was taking care of her younger brother. The MCF team spoke to her parents about sending Shivani to school. They outright refused to enroll her, stating that both parents worked and she needed to stay home to care for their younger son. The team continued to contact them for about three months and encouraged them to enroll the girl in school. After significant persuasion, Shivani's mother, Reshu Devi, agreed to enroll her. She successfully admitted her daughter to the government primary school in Harbanswala in class 2. Currently, the girl is attending school regularly.
- During a community visit to Gandhigram, it was discovered that a girl named Gunjan, aged 12, was not attending school. The team visited her home to meet her. When asked about school, she expressed her desire to attend but mentioned her responsibility for her younger siblings. She stated that her parents both worked, which prevented her from going to school. The facilitators spoke to Gunjan's mother and explained the importance of education. They suggested sending the younger son to the Anganwadi center and the older children to school, assuring her of assistance in enrolling the children. The team maintained regular contact with Gunjan's mother, encouraging her to enroll her children in school. Initially, Gunjan's mother hesitated, but after about 6 to 7 months of constant follow up, she agreed to enroll the children. Consequently, Gunjan was admitted to class 6, and her sister Anjali was admitted to class 5 at the Arya Samaj Mandir in Lakshman Chowk. Gunjan now takes her one-year-old brother with her to school.
- During the MachhiTalab community meeting, Krishna Devi mentioned that her daughter Preeti was 4 years old. She wanted to enroll her daughter in the Anganwadi center, but the Anganwadi worker refused to register her because she was malnourished. Subsequently, the facilitators spoke to the Anganwadi worker at the center, requesting she register of the child in her anganwadi. The Anganwadi worker stated that there were already 36 children registered at the center and that no more could be admitted. She assured the facilitators that she would register the girl in July. At the July community meeting, the girl's mother confirmed that her daughter had been registered at the Anganwadi center and that she was going to the anganwadi daily. She thanked the team for facilitating the admission.
- Pawan Devi of MachhiTalab now proudly signs the meeting register. She initially used to put her thumb impression instead of signing her name. The team motivated her to learn Primary School in Dhandaarand discussed the shortage of teachers in the school. They found that the school had a high number of students but a shortage of teachers. The team helped the community members to file a complaint on 1098 the child helpline. As a follow up to that the DPO Dehradun, sent a letter to the Education Department . As a response to the letter, the education department made arrangements for teachers in the school, making the children and their parents very happy. When the team visited the Macchi Talab basti, the children expressed their gratitude for the help given in bringing teachers to their school.

- The Anganwadi center in Gandhigram was visited multiple times. No meetings could be conducted in the anagnwadi because it was always closed. The team discussed this fact with the anganwadi worker, who it was found was on BLO duty and assigned to another location. She had told the anganwadi helper to open the anganwadi every day which she was not doing. The Anganwadi worker assured the facilitators that she would contact the anganwadi helper herself. The next day, the Anganwadi center was found open, and the anganwadi helper was also present there.
